TRAINING DESCRIPTION

The program is designed for parent and professional teams to learn alongside one another and focus on skills that strengthen parents' ability to advocate for their children in a variety of settings. Participants will enhance their leadership skills and be ready to take on new higher-level roles in the community.

Parents and professionals will select their own partners for participation. This series follows a train-the-trainer model and each parent/professional team will be asked to commit to training 5 other parent/professional teams upon completion of the Parent Advocacy Training series.
